The Palm Beach County Library system is excited to announce the availability of hoopla, a new way to use your library card to borrow movies, television shows, music and audiobooks without ever having to leave home.

Card holders can now use hoopla to access thousands of audio visual materials and stream them directly to their computers, smart phones and tablets. All hoopla content is available on demand with no holds and no waiting. Your selections are delivered to you via online streaming, or can be temporarily downloaded to a mobile device for use while not connected to the Internet.

hoopla is simple to use. Simply create an account at hoopladigital.com, find a title you want, click Borrow and start streaming. hoopla content plays in your computer’s browser, or by using dedicated apps for Android and iOS devices.

Your library card allows you to borrow up to 12 items from hoopla each month. There are over 8,000 movies and television shows, 10,000 audiobooks and 115,000 complete music albums to choose from, and new items are added weekly. Movie and television titles circulate for 2-3 days, music for a week, and audiobooks 21 days. You can watch or listen to your items as much as you want during the circulation period, and all items will be returned automatically when they expire so there are never any late fees to worry about.

The Palm Beach County Library System has partnered with area organizations to present the first annual Book Life series, an engaging series designed for adults. This series is being held across the county at different library branches as well as other community locations from September through December.
