This November we will be celebrating our 12th Annual Families Reading Together campaign. Reading as a family is an important bonding experience. Studies show that spending even 15 minutes a day can help a child become a better reader. To promote this, each year a book is chosen for all preschool through first grade children to read with their families. This year the book is “Up, Down, and Around,” written by Katherine Ayres and illustrated by Nadine Bernard Westcott. Clever rhymes and fun illustrations reveal a colorful vegetable garden growing up, down and around with help from visitors both large and small.

Kicking things off will be a day at Morikami Museum and Japanese Gardens. On Sat, Nov 07 from 10:00 am until 4:00 pm, children showing their library card will receive free admission along with one accompanying adult. The Bookmobile will be onsite for children to visit and the staff will issue cards to those who do not have one. Children can also participate in the Great Book Giveaway, go on a vegetable scavenger hunt, experience Kamishibai Japanese storytelling, enjoy performances by Pumpkin Patty, and meet Dewey the Library Owl.

We will have other activities as well throughout the month to promote Families Reading Together. All County Library locations will feature the book at story times and Outreach staff will provide programs to day care centers. There will also be a bookmark design contest for children ages 7-12.

This campaign is made possible through the generosity of the Friends of the Palm Beach County Library System and other community sponsors. All events are free to the public.

This exhibit explores how Mary Shelley’s novel, “Frankenstein,” provides a framework for discussions of medical advances that challenge our traditional understanding of what it means to be human.
