From the Director

November is a time to gather with family and friends and give thanks. Throughout the month, the Library is hosting activities to celebrate the season. At our children’s events, you can enjoy stories and music that showcase Thanksgiving and autumn too. As well, you can make cards to express your gratitude to family, friends and even our military personnel. We have several activities to show our appreciation for those who have served in the military in recognition of Veterans Day.

Spending time reading is a favorite pastime for many, whether it be with physical, electronic, or audio format. The format one chooses to read a book may vary by circumstances. You can read while out and about by downloading e-books to your phone or other mobile device. You can listen to an audiobook while driving or taking a plane to a Thanksgiving gathering. In fact, the number of audiobooks borrowed from the Library is one of the fastest growing formats. Audiobooks can be downloaded to your device or if connected to Wi-Fi you can stream. We also offer books on CD and even some on MP3s you can plug into your device.

No matter the format chosen, we like to showcase the importance of reading. This month we are doing just that with two initiatives: Families Reading Together and Read Together Palm Beach County – One Book, One Community. These events highlight the importance of reading for all ages. Reading to children at an early age provides an opportunity for families to bond and helps children succeed in life, as well as developing a lifelong love of reading. Read Together Palm Beach County is a community effort to encourage everyone to read the same book. This year it is “Best. State. Ever.: A Florida Man Defends His Homeland,” by Dave Barry.

On behalf of library staff, I wish you all a very happy Thanksgiving.

Douglas Crane, Library Director

This November marks 15 years of the Palm Beach County Library System's Families Reading Together Campaign, reminding the community of the importance of sharing books with children. Reading together is a great way to encourage and prepare children to read on their own. This annual tradition brings families together while providing educational, social and linguistic benefits to young children that last a lifetime.

According to the American Academy of Pediatrics, reading to young children can strengthen parent-child relationships, language skills, and a child's love for books. This special time spent reading together can spark your child's creativity and curiosity through simple follow-up activities. Families should discuss the book and encourage children to ask questions while reading as this can boost confidence and helps build the foundation for literacy skills.

Each year one picture book is chosen for all preschool through first grade children to read with their families. This year's book is “Lola Plants a Garden,” by Anna McQuinn. Lola is inspired by her favorite poem and learns to grow her own garden.

We’ve planned family-friendly events throughout November including a kickoff at the Morikami Museum and Japanese Gardens on Sat, Nov 03, 10:00 am - 1:00 pm. Children who present a valid PBC library card will receive a free admission along with one accompanying adult.

Ways To Incorporate More Reading Into Your Day

Reading is said to help you escape and unwind, increase your focus and knowledge base. Trying to balance work and life can make it difficult to find the time to relax and read a novel, much less dive into the latest, best-selling, life-changing nonfiction book. These seven tips will help you find ways to incorporate more reading into your life.

1. Read books while on the go.
   Your reading material does not have to be a physical book. Consider listening to a book on your commute to work or on your evening walk. The Library has downloadable books that you can store on your phone.

2. Always carry something to read.
   We often find ourselves waiting in line at the supermarket or in the doctor’s office. Use that time to read. You can download a book or magazine to your phone or tablet so you always have something that interests you.

3. It doesn’t have to be literature.
   You can get the benefits of reading from magazines and newspapers too. Reading a magazine or newspaper will keep you informed and provide you with something interesting to talk about at your next networking function. With a Wi-Fi connection you can flip through the pages of some of your favorite magazines. You can also download magazines from Flipster and RBdigital from the Library’s website at www.pbclibrary.org.

4. Reading should be enjoyable.
   Find something that you like to read. Ask friends, neighbors and Library staff for recommendations. Just because you borrowed the book from the Library doesn’t mean you have to read the whole thing. If you don’t like it put it down and find something else that is more to your taste.

5. Read several books at a time.
   If you are reading several books at a time, have them in different locations. It is convenient to have a book on the coffee table, by the bed, in the kitchen or even in the car. You might find that it is easier to read if the book on the bedside is relaxing and while driving you are able to listen to a self-help audiobook.

6. Join a book club.
   Reading doesn’t have to be a solitary endeavor. Joining a club will motivate you to read more. You can use the Library’s Book Club in a Bag to help you get your club started.

7. Make reading a habit.
   Set aside a specific time that you can read for 10-20 minutes. You could decide to read for 10 minutes while on the treadmill at the gym, or in the morning before the rest of the household is awake.

The Literacy Coalition of Palm Beach County’s Read Together Palm Beach County campaign is aimed at getting adults throughout the county to read the same book at the same time. This year’s book is “Best. State. Ever. A Florida Man Defends His Homeland,” by Florida resident and New York Times best-selling author, Dave Barry. In the book, Barry takes on the people who think of the Sunshine State as Flori-DUH.

Copies of the book are available at your local branch library. The campaign runs through the end of November.

Dave Barry will attend the campaign’s finale event on Nov 28, at the Harriet Himmel Theater in West Palm Beach. The finale features a silent auction. RSVP for the event beginning Nov 01. The event is free, but the Literacy Coalition welcomes a donation. For more information visit www.literacypbc.org.
