FICTION

“The Lies of Locke Lamora,” by Scott Lynch

This witty crime caper is set in a richly realized world. First of a series with the fourth book out soon.

Locke Lamora and his gang of Camorri con artists attempt their latest confidence game to steal from the rich and give mainly to themselves. However, they have to navigate restrictions from the mob boss of Camorr, the city’s police forces, and the revenge machinations of an unknown player all while saving the city from destruction.

MANGA

“Kase-san and Morning Glories,” by Hiromi Takashima

It’s the sweet, romantic manga young LGBT+ women deserve.

Yamada is a quiet girl. Most people don’t notice her. But it turns out the person who has been watching her tend to the school’s meager garden is none other than Kase-san, the school’s track superstar. Despite their differences, the two girls are drawn to each other. Flowers might not be the only thing blooming now.

NONFICTION

“The 48 Laws of Power,” by Robert Greene

It is important to know how to move up in life. It is even more important to know when you are being manipulated.

In the book that People magazine proclaimed “beguiling” and “fascinating,” Robert Greene and Joost Elffers have distilled three thousand years of the history of power into 48 essential laws by drawing from the philosophies of Machiavelli, Sun Tzu, and Carl Von Clausewitz and also from the lives of figures ranging from Henry Kissinger to P.T. Barnum.

Some laws teach the need for prudence (“Law 1: Never Outshine the Master”), others teach the value of confidence (“Law 28: Enter Action with Boldness”), and many recommend absolute self-preservation (“Law 15: Crush Your Enemy Totally”). Every law, though, has one thing in common: an interest in total domination. In a bold and arresting two-color package, “The 48 Laws of Power” is ideal whether your aim is conquest, self-defense, or simply to understand the rules of the game.

YOUNG ADULT

“Simon vs. the Homo Sapiens Agenda,” by Becky Albertalli

A representation of the LGBTQ community and a coming of age story about a teenager in high school struggling to come out as gay while anonymously emailing a boy who he instantly falls in love with.

Simon Spier is a sixteen-year-old high schooler who is anonymously emailing his pen pal about his struggle of being openly gay. Everything about Simon’s life had been perfect up until an email falls into the wrong hands and his secret is at risk of being exposed to the whole world. Now Simon has to step out of his comfort zone before his sexual identity becomes everyone’s business. On top of that, he has to do it without alienating his friends, compromising himself, or fumbling a shot of happiness with the most confusing, adorable guy he’s never met.

The Friends of the Library are the proud sponsors of more than 200 activities and classes at branch locations throughout the County. Their support allows the Library to purchase craft supplies, bring in talented musical performers and purchase equipment used in training. Without their support the Library would not be able to offer many of the musical performances, presentations, craft activities and educational workshops. The Friends funds support items that are not covered by the Library’s budget.
