What is NaNoWriMo?

By Joshua Hulford, West Boca Branch

November is here and with it comes the challenge that writers feel both dread and excitement for — NaNoWriMo. What is NaNoWriMo exactly? It stands for National Novel Writing Month and is a writing challenge that started in 1999. The challenge is to write 50,000 words of your novel in 30 days. Over the years, NaNoWriMo has evolved from a simple challenge into a global movement that supports writing fluency and education. Their website, www.nanowrimo.org, allows authors to get together, network and track exactly how many words they have written.

With NaNoWriMo’s support, we are hosting a wide variety of writing activities this month that reflect the beauty and diversity we see in our communities. There will be workshops to help you learn the craft or hone your skills, discussions on topics like representation, neurodivergence in literature and fan fiction. We also have authors coming from to talk about their works and answer questions.

We are also taking part in NaNoWriMo’s Young Writers Program where we have virtual classrooms set up for elementary, middle and high school students so we can support the next generation of writers. We provide them with a safe space to write with prompts and challenges, answer any questions they may have and give words of encouragement.

Why do we participate in NaNoWriMo? How does it benefit us? We choose to participate because it gives us a sense of community and a tangible goal to focus on. Being able to find a group of people who all understand the strange and beautiful art of putting a piece of your soul on paper is inspiring. We participate to know that we are not alone in this. If you need someone to talk to who understands what you are going through while writing your novel, then come to one of our activities because we can guarantee that we understand your pain. Let us be there for you this November as we all write our hearts out.

BOOK + ART: “WALDEN,”
BY HENRY DAVID THOREAU
+ JOSEPH STELLA’S:
“VISIONARY NATURE”

Sat, Nov 12, 2:00 pm

Artist and Italian immigrant Joseph Stella was inspired by American writers such as Henry David Thoreau and Walt Whitman. Read the book and join the discussion and gallery tour led by Norton Museum staff. This is a free event at the Norton Museum of Art. (90 min.)

NORTON MUSEUM OF ART
1450 S. Dixie Highway, West Palm Beach 33401

What started at the turn of the century as an effort to gain a day of recognition for the significant contributions the first Americans made to the establishment and growth of the U.S., has resulted in a whole month being designated for that purpose.

It’s a time to celebrate rich and diverse cultures, traditions and histories and to acknowledge the important contributions of Native people. It’s also an opportune time to educate the general public about tribes, to raise a general awareness about the unique challenges Native people have faced both historically and in the present, and to discuss the ways in which tribal citizens have worked to conquer these challenges.

The first American Indian Day in a state was declared on the second Saturday in May 1916 by the governor of New York. Several states celebrated the fourth Friday in September. In Illinois, for example, legislators enacted such a day in 1919. Presently, several states have designated Columbus Day as Native American Day, but it continues to be a day we observe without any recognition as a national legal holiday.

In 1990, President George H. W. Bush approved a joint resolution designating November 1990 “National American Indian Heritage Month” (including both “Native American Heritage Month” and “National American Indian and Alaska Native Heritage Month”). Similar proclamations have been issued each year since 1994. Here at the Palm Beach County Library System, we are celebrating this wonderful month by hosting a variety of both in-person and online activities. Look for the icon.
Special Needs Activities

For the month of November, the Palm Beach County Library is spotlighting NaNoWriMo, a nonprofit organization that encourages everyone to explore creative writing. With activities happening throughout the System, you'll be inspired to put pen to paper and begin the next great American novel. We all have stories to tell, let the library inspire you to start writing today!
